

LIQUOR LAW BREAKER TO GET HIS DESERT

GOVERNMENT STARTS INTENSIVE ENFORCEMENT

$50,000,000 FUNDS AVAILABLE FOR THE "BIG PUSH"

VIOLATORS CAUGHT FACE THE STERN PROVISIONS OF JONES LAW

By CECIL OWEN

Washington, March 19.—The most intensive and wide-spread effort ever made to enforce prohibition is imminent.

Spurred on by President Hoover, who made law enforcement a leading issue of the campaign and the chief text of his inaugural speech, the federal government is marshalling its forces for a major offensive against the liquor law violator.

Money aggregating nearly $50,000,000 for this year alone is available for the "big push." Extra funds aggregating $2,730,000 were appropriated by the recent congress.

Violators caught in the enforcement machinery, shortly to be augmented by extra agents hired with the additional funds, will be liable to the most severe penalties ever imposed for infraction of the federal prohibition laws. The Jones bill, passed by congress at its last session, allows maximum penalties of five years in jail and $10,000 fine, or both.

Three hundred and seventy extra prohibition agents, bringing the entire staff close to a total of 3,000 men, are now being hired by the dry bureau which received $1,719,000 extra in addition to its regular $13,500,000 appropriation.

Drawn from the ranks of war veterans or men who have seen military or police duty of some kind, the extra agents will be divided about evenly among the 25 dry districts. Prohibition Commissioner Doran told the United Press today.

"This new activity is in no sense a temporary 'drive,' he explained, 'but it is intended as a permanent policy.'

Along with the increase in enforcement work of the bureau, Doran is planning a $50,000 "educational campaign." This campaign will apply the publicity methods of President Hoover's food conservation drives during the war.

Coincident with the stepping up of the dry unit activity, the justice department, which now has about 22,000 cases pending untied in the federal courts, is planning to engage a number of extra assistant district attorneys.

The customs bureau expects to add 203 additional patrolmen to its border staff. It will also take on 15 more customs agents, 17 inspectors and 36 guards.

Four new seaplanes to be used for scouting run runners off the Florida coast are being ordered by coast guard headquarters.

Washington, March 19.—There will be no drastic or dynamic drive to enforce prohibition under President Hoover, but the administration will follow a vigorous and well defined policy for building up law enforcement generally.

The government, it was learned on high authority today, will avoid all acts of sensational character in its enforcement efforts and will confine itself to generally building up law enforcement and reducing crime.

In this effort the government expects the support of the press and of all law abiding citizens. Although prohibition represents one of the major aspects of the reorganization and enforcement project, it will not be the only aim of the new policy.

Narcotics, immigration, smuggling and all other violations of federal law will be dealt with in the administration's general policy to reduce crime throughout the country.

MARSHAL FOCH STEADILY LOSING HIS VITALITY

Paris, March 19.—(UP)—Marshal Ferdinand Foch was steadily losing his strength today, physicians announced.

The famous war time generalissimo spent a better night but he was so weak this morning that his barber was unable to shave him.

Foch's physicians continued to keep all visitors from the sick room but messages of sympathy arrived at the house almost constantly.

The marshal's temperature was 99 degrees and his pulse 88.

Mexican Rebels and Indians Advancing On Naco

BYRD TO SEARCH FOR 3 WHO WERE FORCED DOWN ON ICE

New York, March 19.—(UP)—The New York Times and St. Louis Post-Dispatch announced today that Commander Richard E. Byrd was preparing to search for three members of his Antarctic expedition who were forced down on the ice while engaging in an aerial geologic trip.

Members of the party were Larry Gould, geologist, Bernt Balchen and Harold June, pilots. They had failed to report to the expedition headquarters since last Thursday. It was believed they were safe but Commander Byrd reported by wireless that, however remote the possibility that an accident might have occurred, he wished to discover what had befallen the missing men.

LIEUT. GOV. NOLAN IS CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS SEAT

WISHES TO SUCCEED WALTER H. NEWTON IN FIFTH DISTRICT

DICKEY, OF MINNEAPOLIS G. O. P., OPPOSED TO NOLAN CANDIDACY

St. Paul, March 19.—(UP)—Lt. Governor W. I. Nolan of Minnesota announced here today that he would be a candidate to succeed Representative Walter H. Newton, Minneapolis, who recently was appointed third assistant secretary to President Herbert Hoover.

"If I am elected representative from the fifth Minnesota district," Nolan said, "I will do all I can to support President Hoover in his program."

Date of the special election has not yet been set by Governor Theodore Christianson.

"The fifth district will lose an able and effective representative in Mr. Newton," Nolan added. "It is one of the most important districts in the nation and the man who represents it has a real job."

"I have no statement to make at this time, but during the campaign I will discuss the issues in detail. All I have to say now is that if elected I will work for the legislation that the people of Minneapolis are vitally interested in and will support President Hoover in carrying out his program."

Nolan was the first person of state wide renown to announce his candidacy.

Jay F. Gould, former state game and fish commissioner, also has been prominently mentioned as a possible candidate for the Newton seat as have Ernest Lundeen, farmer-labor candidate last fall for governor; State Senator Sumner T. McKnight and a half dozen political leaders of Minneapolis.

Minneapolis, March 19.—Fred Dickey, chairman of the Hennepin county republican committee, announced here today that he and the committee were "100 per cent opposed to the candidacy of Lieut. Gov. W. I. Nolan," who seeks the congressional seat which will soon be vacated by the resignation of Rep. Walter Newton.

"The committee will meet soon to decide on which of the candidates to support," Dickey said.

It was rumored that State Senator Sumner T. McKnight was favored by the county organization although he has yet to announce his candidacy.

SEEK MODIFICATION OF VOLSTEAD ACT

Madison, Wis., March 19.—(UP)—A resolution, petitioning congress for a national referendum on the question of modifying the Volstead act was introduced in the Wisconsin general assembly today.

Senator Walter S. Goodland, author of the resolution, included in his measure a suggested method of taking the referendum.

The resolution would supplement one previously adopted asking congress to provide a referendum on the question of modifying the Volstead act to legalize the manufacture of beer having an alcoholic content of 2.75 per cent.

Alabama Flood Disaster Has Passed Peak, Problem Now Is Housing the Many Homeless

DEATH LIST NOT AUGMENTED, IT IS REPORTED

THE ALABAMA RIVER WILL NOT CAUSE AS MUCH DAMAGE AS PEA RIVER

LOSSES IN IMPROVED REAL ESTATE AND PERSONAL LOSS $30,000,000

Montgomery, Ala., March 19.—(UP)—Gov. Bibb Graves announced today he believed the state's flood disaster had passed its peak and that the great problem remaining was the immediate housing of the thousands of homeless left by the receding waters.

Reports from the several flood sections indicated there was little fear of more deaths. The Alabama river, though out of its banks and flooding the lowland cotton fields of Wilcox county, will cause no such damage as was wrought by the rushing Pea river in the Geneva-Elba district, it was thought.

At Camden, in the heart of the new flood district, residents reported by telephone that, though roads were washed out, they did not contemplate leaving their homes.

The number of homeless from the Geneva-Elba district is estimated at 10,000; from the Brewton-Flomaton district, 5,000; all other districts, 10,000. The loss in improved real estate and the personal loss is estimated at $30,000,000.

The number of persons dead is placed at approximately 100.

These figures, it was said, might be augmented considerably by full reports from Georgia and Florida, some sections of which still face an acute situation.

The danger of spread of disease in the districts returning to normal is rapidly diminishing, according to reports from state health officials.

Looting is at an end, according to Col. W. E. Persons of the state militia. Martial law effectively stopped the ghoulish work and to keep it stopped the law is still in effect.

Briefly, rescue operations are being carried on as follows:

Food (bread, canned meat and milk) is being carried to isolated spots by plane and dropped by parachute to the needy. The same procedure is taken with bed clothing, clothing, tents and medicine.

Shelter will be provided by tents delivered by plane and eventually

KIDNAPING OF 20 YEARS AGO REVIVED

YOUTH, AGED GRAY HAired MOTHER CHARACTER IN PLOT

HAD LEFT HER BABY WITH CHICAGO WOMAN WHILE SHE WENT SHOPPING

Chicago, March 19.—(UP)—Youth, an aged gray haired mother and a tale of kidnaping twenty years ago furnished the characters and plot today for a human drama that will be enacted here late today.

Twenty years ago, Mrs. Lucrezia Nuzzo entrusted her month old daughter, Anna, to the care of a neighbor, Mrs. Mary De Franco, while she went shopping. Today Mrs. Nuzzo will see her daughter again for the first time.

During the intervening score of years the mother made every effort to find her child. Last week she was told by Mrs. Nancy Onesti, godmother to the baby, that she had received a letter from San Francisco in which the missing girl made appeal for help in finding her mother.

Mrs. De Franco, who kidnaped the child, had taken her to California and not until she was on her deathbed did she tell the girl that she was the daughter of Mrs. Nuzzo. Through papers the girl found her godmother, Mrs. Onesti and the appeal for aid followed.

Arrangements for bringing the girl here were made by her brother, Andrew Nuzzo.

NEWS PRINT PAPER INDUSTRY IS TO BE INVESTIGATED

Washington, March 19.—(UP)—The Federal Trade commission today formally accepted the senate resolution of Senator Schall, republican, Minnesota, directing an investigation of the news print paper industry.

The resolution, recently enacted by the senate, instructs the commission to determine whether manufacturers and distributors of news print paper are tending to create a monopoly.

It also calls for an inquiry into possible violation of the anti-trust laws.

Herbert L. Anderson, chief examiner of the commission, will supervise the investigation.

PAISH PREDICTS GRAVE FINANCIAL CRISIS IS COMING

Manchester, Eng., March 19.—(UP)—Sir George Paish, internationally known economist, addressing the national conference on free trade here today, predicted the approach of the gravest financial crisis in history.

"The present policy of protection and safeguarding means the suicide of the world," he said. "Nothing can be done to prevent this financial crisis."

He said the United States and British experts expect the crisis in the spring.

Sir George said the crisis is threatening because the governments of the world have followed the policy of trade restriction, preventing debtors from paying their debts.

"I am not exaggerating," he asserted. "I wish I were."

CORN BELT COMMITTEE ON FARM AID

UNDISMAYED BY PREVIOUS FAILURES REGARDING McNARY-HAUGEN BILL

WILL SUPPORT ANY PLAN WHICH WILL SOLVE FARM PROBLEM

Des Moines, March 19.—(UP)—Undismayed by previous failures to obtain enactment of the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill, the corn belt committee of the middlewest, representing a million farmers, today was on record as still favoring the bill as the most likely measure to bring farm relief.

The committee, however, in resolutions passed last night after an all day meeting, left the door open for other ideas by declaring the organization gladly would lend support to anyone who can suggest legislation which will solve the farm problem.

Demand that existing tariffs be made effective for agriculture and that production costs be made the basis for the farmers' price also were adopted.

Principles which are fundamental and indispensably necessary in effective surplus control legislation were outlined as follows:

1. The effective handling of surpluses of major farm products.
2. A method of apportioning the operating expenses, costs and losses (except those actually assumed by the government) among producers of the commodities benefitted.
3. An automatic control of production insofar as the human element is an important factor.
4. An adequate system of obtaining supply-and-demand data.
5. A suitable and adequate revolving fund.

Two committees were named named by William Hirth, Columbia, Mo.; chairman of the committee, to work out tariff problems and the other to go to Washington and carry the mid-west's demands for relief to the special session of congress.

EAKER UNABLE TO LEAVE TAMPICO FIELD

Brownsville, Tex., March 19.—(UP)—Capt. Ira C. Eaker, scheduled to arrive here this morning from Tampico on the last lap of his attempted dawn to dusk flight from France Field, Panama, was unable to leave Tampico because of a muddy landing field, he informed International Airport officials here by long distance telephone.

Capt. Eaker did not disclose when he intends to leave Tampico but officials are of the opinion that he will not attempt the flight until tomorrow.

On his return to the United States he will fly directly to the bedside of his father, Y. Y. Eaker, at Eden, Texas. The elder Eaker is dangerously ill.

"Regular flights through Central and South America will not be practicable until a system of reporting weather conditions along the route has been perfected," Eaker told officials here over long distance telephone. "Only through such reports will it be possible to determine in advance the conditions one is likely to meet."

INSURGENTS ARE LED BY GEN. TOPETE

TO STRIKE AT BORDER TOWN HELD BY GENERAL OLACHEA

500 INDIANS, WELL MOUNTED AND ARMED, JOIN TOPETE'S FORCES

Nogales, Ariz., March 19.—(UP)—Twenty-five hundred rebel troops, including 500 Mayo Indians in gaudy blankets, moved from Nogales, Sonora, today to attack Naco, Sonora, border town.

The army was led by General Fausto Topete, governor of Sonora, who will strike at the border town held by General Augustin Olachea, who deserted the rebel ranks soon after the insurrection started.

Rebel leaders said their decision to attack was prompted by a report from General Enrique Estrada that burned bridges and destroyed railroad tracks between Cananea and Naco had been repaired and the way to the city was open.

General Topete's forces were augmented yesterday by the arrival of the 500 Mayo Indians, clad in blankets and all well mounted. They appeared to be well armed and well disciplined.

Bulletins at revolutionary headquarters continued to predict that General Ramon Iturbe would attack Mazatlan, Sinaloa, in a few hours.

By G. F. FINE (United Press Staff Correspondent) Mexico City, March 19.—Plutarco Elias Calles, minister of war who is personally in command of federal troops on the northern front, informed the presidencia today that federal columns would leave the captured rebel city of Torreon immediately to "fight and exterminate" rebel forces in the state of Chihuahua.

Calles was to reach Torreon by airplane or automobile today from Guadalupe Victoria, about 80 miles south of that city.

The government announced that rebel leaders in the state of Nihua made peace proposals through the Mexican consulate at El Paso but the proposals were flatly rejected and the offensive against the fleeing troops of the rebel General J. Gonzales Escobar was continued.

Escobar evacuated Torreon before the advance of Calles' army, as the veteran federal leader had predicted. They fled northward to Escalon, state of Chihuahua, as federal cavalry under Gen. Benight Serrata led the government march into Torreon.

It was assumed Escobar was attempting to reach rebel troops at Chihuahua City, where Governor Caraveo is in command of insurgents.

The rebel governor of the state of Durango, Gen. Juan Gualberto May, with twenty men, was reported fleeing before federal forces in the mountains of Durango.

The newspaper Grafico reported that rebels in the state of Juarez had derailed and attacked a southbound train from Laredo at San Miguel today. The Capital Railway offices confirmed the dispatch.

The minister of war reported three columns of federal troops were at Torreon, preparing to advance into Chihuahua in pursuit of the rebels. Gen. Juan Almazan, in charge of the main federal column advancing on Torreon, reported the fall of that city and the flight of the rebels, in a brief message to the government.

The insurgents retreated at sunrise in trains which had waited near the outskirts of the city. Lt. Col. Roberto Fierro, noted Mexican flier who recently made a good-will flight to Central American countries, commanded a squadron of planes which bombed bridges to delay the rebel retreat.

It was assumed Escobar was attempting to reach rebel troops at Chihuahua City, where Governor Caraveo is in command of insurgents.

The rebel governor of the state of Durango, Gen. Juan Gualberto May, with twenty men, was reported fleeing before federal forces in the mountains of Durango.

The newspaper Grafico reported that rebels in the state of Juanajuata had derailed and attacked a southbound train from Laredo at San Miguel toay. The Capital Railway offices confirmed the dispatch.

The minister of war reported three columns of federal troops were at Torreón, preparing to advance into Chihuahua in pursuit of the rebels. Gen. Juan Almazan, in charge of the main federal column advancing on Torreón, reported the fall of that city and the flight of the rebels, in a brief message to the government. The insurgents retreated at sunrise in trains which had waited near the outskirts of the city.

Lt. Col. Roberto Fierro, noted Mexican flier who recently made a good-will flight to Central American countries, commanded a squadron of planes which bombed bridges to delay the rebel retreat.

MEAN THIEF STEALS MEASLES SIGNS OFF QUARANTINED HOUSES

Peru, Ind., March 19.—(UP)—There are thieves and thieves, but the meanest is the one who has been stealing the measles signs off of quarantined houses here. There is an outbreak of the disease here and the collector must have quite a stack of the red and black signs by now.

ALL HOPE LOST
FOR BURIED MINER,
GUST RANTIA

Chisholm, Minn., March 19.—(U.P.)—All hope was abandoned today for the rescue of Gust Rantia, imprisoned in the Bruce mine near here for five days.

Rescue workers broke into the upper level, where Rantia was known to be working at the time of a cave-in Thursday, and found it partly filled with dirt and timbers.

Removal of the debris was started today in the hope of finding the miner's body.

SCOUT AREA HEADS DISCUSS PROGRAM

YEAR'S BUDGET APPROVED

Dinner Meeting Here Attracts Officials From All Parts of Area

A meeting was held of the executive board of the Central Minnesota Area Council Boy Scouts of America, last night at the private dining room in Archer's Cafe. The meeting was opened by President G. S. Olds with a few words of greeting to the members assembled.

C. W. Armstrong, scout executive, then presented the budget for the year 1929-30 which was discussed at some length and approved. Nick Ahles, area commissioner presented a fine discussion of area service and co-operation. Mr. Ahles stated that it was up to the laymen of the organization to spread the gospel of Scouting to the neighboring towns and communities.

Reports of progress were presented by J. L. Cross of Staples, S. R. Adair of Brainerd, and Field Executive S. C. Bakken.

Louis Knudsen, camp chairman for the northern district of the area was then called upon to present the plans for the ensuing camping season. Mr. Knudsen expressed the view that the interchanging privileges of the camp at St. Cloud and Camp Clearwater would be generally helpful in creating a splendid area spirit.

Frank Jung, chairman of the camping committee of St. Cloud expressed the view that the camps this year would be far better than ever before, stating that the camp details would be ready for distribution very soon.

The executives report was read and approved. The seminar for executives at the University of Minnesota April 8, 9, and 10 was discussed and it was decided that the executives from this area should take in the course at that time. The training received there will materially help the council staff to put over a better job of scouting in the area, it was believed.

The following were present: J. H. Rice, N. M. Ahles, Frank Jung, C. S. Olds, J. M. Welch, Oscar Magnuson, W. J. Rau, Executive C. W. Armstrong, all of St. Cloud; J. L. Cross of Staples; S. R. Adair, D. C. Gray, Louis Knudsen, Field Executive S. C. Bakken, all of Brainerd. Because of the condition of the roads several districts of the area were not represented.

WILSON AND PROHIBITION

PRESIDENT WILSON, it is now disclosed, favored a radical change in the methods of carrying out the provisions of the Volstead act, says the Philadelphia Record.

Senator Carter Glass in the New York Times has disclosed the views held by the former head of the nation as expressed in 1924. These views were to have been presented to the committee on resolutions at the Democratic convention of that year. But the bitterness which marked the early proceedings did not make this propitious, and the proposed plank was withheld. The plan can be summed up in two short sentences:

The task of the Federal government should be to prevent the importation of liquor into the United States and its transportation from state to state.

Each state should prevent the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquor within its own borders.

In other words, the Volstead act should follow the spirit of the Constitution. Public opinion would be the basis on which the law would rest. States' rights would be guarded. The Federal authorities would be left to attend to their own business strictly.

Prohibitionists may argue that such a change in the act would mean virtual nullification in certain states. But that does not follow. The Volstead act was practically nullified in Philadelphia a year ago. Saloons sold liquor openly. Speakeasies flourished. Corruption was rife. Excess defeated itself, and a public conscience was aroused. Today it is far, far more difficult to obtain liquor in this city than it was before the reaction set in.

President Wilson has left a most important political legacy; one that demands close study by the leaders of both parties.

SPRING'S RUSH MOVEMENT

WE have always heard the poets say or have read their effusions referring to the coming of gentle Spring. This year the young lady rushed upon the scene with all the verve, vim, vigor and vitality of flaming youth.

In three days her ardent glances melted all the snowbank near Brainerd and even thawed out most of the icy ridge on the south side of Laurel street.

Out in the woods the warm winds worked with the might of a western chinook, honeycombing snow drifts and reducing them to mere shadows of their former power. Gull lake ice is feeling the effect of the sun and wind and thawing near the shore lines.

Our secondary lines of transportation arteries, the country roads, unpaved, leading to farm homes, are suffering from a sort of dissolution, or in plain terms, "the bottom has been knocked out of them," by the warm weather. A foundation cannot be regained until excess moisture has evaporated.

As the sap starts to flow in the trees, spring poetry also struggles to the front. So far no one has brought any spring flowers to the Dispatch office. Among the wild insects turned in are a freight house mosquito, butterflies, etc.

THE STORM SEWER

THE business man down town and the average citizen with any interest in forthcoming improvements know the need of a storm sewer in the business section. After heavy, abnormal rainfall, the general sewer balks at carrying the load and basements fill.

It may take some time to find a suitable route, but in the meantime why not map out the district and let us know what the tax may come to and who will have to pay for it? The business section will not carry the whole expense, for it will overlap into the residential area.

Why not let us know how and where the cost will fall and we shall gradually become accustomed to the inevitable.

FLOWERS ARE A COMMUNITY ASSET

PARK RAPIDS like Brainerd has found that flowers are a community asset. In pleading for more flowers in the village, the Enterprise states that without flowers much of the brightness of summer would be missed, and a large part of the gratification that property owners realize from the improvement of their home surroundings would not be known. It is therefore well that organized efforts be made to bring this added attractiveness to the community.

Park Rapids is awakening to the benefits of a flower show. The first one given there was a success. Citizens are urged to plan their flower gardens, giving one or more flowers special attention and reporting with their results at the annual flower show.

GLUTTON FOR SPEED

THAT Englishman, Major Segrave, is certainly a glutton for high speed. After gaining the record with the Golden Arrow on the Daytona Beach sands, he is now entered in a speed boat race. The Golden Arrow is our idea of a fast car, with a speed of 92 miles an hour in low gear, 166 miles in second and 240 miles in high. Moving pictures revealed the major in his death defying drive as he skirted the ocean, once in a while splashing over wet sand.

The average woman will not envy Mrs. Segrave, who bidding him goodbye at the start of a race, never knows whether he will come home his usual self or in pieces.

ANNEXING PART OF CASS COUNTY

EVERY now and then the urge crops out in Crow Wing county to annex the lower tier of townships of Cass county. By all the laws of nature and subsequent development, the area would round out Crow Wing county to a nicely and would bring to us a section which is natural trade territory and which would profit greatly by drawing Crow Wing county road improvements, lake development, tourist trade, etc.

WE are getting so surfeited on education these years that somebody now wants to abolish the electoral college. One of the innovations of the college is that the vote is now mailed in, instead of sending a special messenger.

SOME guy has invented a mechanical pencil that multiplies and divides. We have a ten cent one, says the Perham Enterprise-Bulletin, that does the same thing, but not always right.

B. H. S. STUDENTS SHOW TALENT IN RECITAL RECENTLY

KATHRYN ALLBRIGHT AND WILLIAM MCLENNAN PRESENTED

Kathryn Albright and William McLennan, class of '29, were presented in recital by Mrs. W. A. M. Johnstone at the Congregational church last Wednesday night. Kathryn's contribution to the program was the colorful "Concerto Capriccio Brillante" (Mendelssohn) as a solo number. She also was one of the quartet of girls in the eight hand numbers at the opening and close of the program.

William did his bit at the organ in the delightful Moszkowski "Serenade" and exhibited his versatility by playing the second piano for the difficult Grieg Concerto.

An account of the recital has recently appeared in the Dispatch columns but a mention of the achievements of two of our students seems appropriate in this edition.

To the Sophomore Class:

I wish to express my sincere thanks to the sophomore class for the beautiful floral-bouquet which was sent me when I was sick.

Lucille Bryan.

Mr. Johnstone Addresses Night School Students

W. A. M. Johnstone, Crow Wing county clerk of court, gave a well organized talk to the night school students this last week, concerned with the courts of the United States. In a few preliminary remarks he spoke of the importance of night school work both to the students who are attending those schools and to the people of this country as a whole. He also told of the change for the better in the requirements for naturalization and called to mind that in 1891, 423 aliens became citizens in one day at Gull River. This certainly indicated the lack of interest in Americanization ceremonies at that time, said Mr. Johnstone.

Launching into his speech of the evening, Mr. Johnstone discussed the work of the lower courts and showed their connection with the higher courts of our judicial system, whose work he also explained. He brought out some interesting facts about the jury system and noted that it is a breach of all court procedure to ask to be allowed to sit on a jury. He said, too, that a grand jury is seldom used now except in cases of felony.

Night school students feel themselves very fortunate to hear men like Mr. Johnstone, and are waiting eagerly for March 19, tonight, to listen to a talk by Judge Kinder of the probate court.

THE MAIL BAG

To the Editor:

Your little space in the Brainonian set aside for the Mail Bag is for nothing more or less than comments on the publication of each of these issues, both pro and con as well as on other school activities. As a student of B. H. S. I am very much interested in our weekly news and let me say these few words in regard to your paper.

This year started out with what was practically all new staff. It might be and in fact is hard for a person to edit a paper, and if any one doubts this, let him try it for a spell. Regardless of this I wish to commend you on the first half year of your work. The Brainonian had been a very interesting page, but I must say that the last half so far is losing that distinction.

Did you stop to think of how hard those eight boys that Mr. Kasch took to the tournament at Crosby, fought and worked, to bring to the minds of other schools that B. H. S. still is full of vim, vigor and vitality under all handicaps? No doubt you did, but there still is, at least with me, the idea that you did not give those who made B. H. S. known, quite enough attention.

Next, I wish to say that your articles have not the school spirit that they used to attain. If some one has been afflicted by the spring fever in your staff, get a hold of him and notify him that vacation does not start until June. Let's get going and end the year with as good a paper as the first half produced.

Yours for a better Brainonian,
Hallett Clarkson

FRENCH CLUB MEETING FEATURES GIRLS OCTET

The newly formed Girls Octet, under the direction of Miss Rickard made their appearance in an entirely satisfactory manner at the French club meeting last Monday night when they sang three songs much to the delight of the club members. Then, not to be outdone by the choristers, the members themselves also sang by caroling the strains of "The Rose Tree."

When the roll call was taken, a person responded with a French proverb which he translated into English. Hattie Zawadzki made an addition to the program in the form of two amusing French dialect readings. After Miss Taylor announced that French club need not worry about its finances, the meeting adjourned and games were played and refreshments were provided.

All members of this club enjoy the meetings thoroughly for both the educational and social advantages they receive from it. The meetings are so well attended that it is quite evident that no one cares to miss them.

THE FACULTY

Miss Anna Lord first began her long journey through the paths of life in a little southern Minnesota village called Kasson. There she whiled away the happy hours of her childhood in the little red school house (painted white) where she counted the first stepping stone toward the land of achievement.

Having finished grade school she moved to St. Paul where she attended high school (principally because of the lack of one at Kasson). Later she attended Carleton college, which saw the dawn of her desires to become a teacher.

When asked if she became a prominent factor in any school activities Miss Lord explained that she was "too busy having a good time to participate in activities." We think that she is too modest about this.

After receiving her degree at college she remained about the country for a period of about five years before she came to us, teaching in various places among which she mentions our neighboring city of Crosby with which we are so much concerned at times.

Miss Lord's chief hobby is motoring, which affords a great many pleasures in our beautiful land of picturesque lakes, broad highways and forests of murmuring pines—and filling stations. Her chief ambition, she says, is to save enough money to buy a new car in the spring.

How to Fulfill Contracts

Enter the class room in your usual nonchalant manner with shuffling gait and scowling face. Fall into your seat until it groans and cracks beneath your weight so that you know you have played your part in presenting the janitors with a little more repair work. They have nothing to do, anyway. Gaze at the instructor with a fishy eye as though you were daring her to do anything out of the ordinary. If she is not overcome by the intensity of your gaze, she will announce contracts for the next six weeks or some other specified time.

Contracts! Huh! They are nothing to get excited about! You know just how to get an A. You probably have never received a mark over C in your class work but that is due to the fact that the instructor "picked out" you or an equally good reason. But now, what's a little contract? You are so overcome by brilliant ideas and by visions of the A you are to receive that you pay no attention to instructions. Why bother with details?

However, the numerous activities in which you are engaged absorb so much of your time and attention that you forget contracts and all connected with them until the instructor electrifies you by announcing that contracts are due immediately. You assume the role of a thinker for the time being, and then you become an excellent traveler as you wear a path into the instructor's room to ask her questions which she has answered weeks ago. You work, you labor, you sweat over the said contracts and you finally prepare a hastily written theme, a cartoon of which any self-respecting second grader might be ashamed, and a poster which is the sort of thing a cat might play with.

You proudly present your daubs to the instructor, or hand in nothing at all. Alas! that instructor always did have it "in" for you.

YE EDITOR

In reference to the somewhat scorching article in this issue's mail bag column we believe that some sort of an apology is due our dissatisfied reader. We are still new at the job and at times find ourselves almost lost at the amount of work to be taken care of in so short a time—a factor which the average member of the student body does not realize—but we are learning many new things as each issue goes to press. We will soon have it down to a system and will be able to devote more of our time toward making the paper of interest to you.

In the matter of football and basketball articles about which our reader remarks, we would like to say that we did not elaborate to a very great extent for a very good reason. We have as our competitor, (in some respects) a very live and up-to-date daily newspaper which publishes all the game news days before our paper comes to press and we endeavor to keep from printing the "old" news as much as possible.

Even though Mr. Clarkson's article was not of the sort an editor would be particularly pleased to receive we are grateful to him for expressing his views. Let's hear from the rest of you. Has no one a kind word for us?

SENIORS SELECT MOTTO AND FLOWER AT MEETING THURS.

GIRLS CHOOSE WHITE ENSEMBLE FOR GRADUATION SERVICES

At a meeting of the Senior girls last Tuesday afternoon, the yearly bug-bear—"what to wear for graduation"—was settled so quickly and peaceably that the shock has left almost everyone unrecovered as yet.

Although two or three other costumes were suggested, the white ensemble of any material—completed by white hose and black slippers—won almost unanimous approval. Long-sleeved dresses of any material and style will be worn for the Baccalaureate services.

Thursday afternoon again found the Seniors—both boys and girls—convening to settle some more problems. The first accomplishment was the selection of class colors. Green and orchid carried the day.

"In Ourselves Our Future Lies" won the sanction of members as a motto for the class of '29.

A close vote between roses and sweet peas was cast—the final preference being for roses as the class flower.

Miss Tornstrom and President Malcolm Ellison both made urgent appeals to class members to pay second semester dues, because without them, activities—namely parties—must cease.

Normal Training Notes

Our class held a meeting under the leadership of Chairman Miss Wilson last Wednesday. Many important issues were discussed, some of which were the class dues, graduation costumes and the forming of an alumni association.

Laura Racine, Madge Rardin, Margaret Schley and Evelyn DeChaine are going to begin 7th grade work in the Lincoln building Monday.

Myrtle Wilson, Violet Hoston, Wilma Helgeson, Anna Wahlstrom are starting 8th grade work at the Harrison.

Maude Thompson is going to take over the music in the Garfield school. We all wish her luck.

Our printing presses surely have been doing overtime work this week in preparation for the primary which started Monday.

JUNIOR HI-Y SUP THURSDAY NIGHT

Potatoes, meatballs, gravy, meat loaf, tuns, jelly and pears constituted the supper of the Junior Hi-Y which was held Thursday night at the Y. M. C. A.

After the supper, business formed the latter part of the meeting. Everyone was requested to pay his dues. The boys voted to go in with other organizations in the city in the Easter morning-tide service which will be held Easter morning at 7 o'clock in the basement of the Presbyterian church. A new member was introduced, who was none other than William Stout himself. Every member proved faithful and was there, 100 per cent strong.

Very much poetry is flying around here loose during the noon hour and after school. You see some of the girls are busy preparing the quotations and original verses to put after our names in the Brainonian Annual.

We wish to thank the staff for the courtesy shown us in the last issue. We, too, shall do our best that there may be no further misunderstandings.

THE FACULTY

Although Petesky, the name of her birthplace might suggest it Miss Evelyn Marshall is not of Russian descent but rather of a French and Dutch line. At the tender age of one and a half years the family removed her to Council Bluffs, Iowa, for her elementary schooling. Her high school education was gained at St. Paul where she attended the Central high school.

Her leisure time was utilized in practicing on the piano, working in the Dramatics club and school orchestra, and running a column in "The World," the school paper, with the intermittent minutes spent in dreaming of a vaudeville skit she longed to offer to the public. The only reason she didn't go on the stage, she says, was because she couldn't do anything.

After three years at the U and at Carleton, she received her B. A. and began teaching at Brainerd and has continued to do so for two years. We hope she does not now even think of going on the stage for she is sure to "make a hit" and if she does she might not teach here again. Her piano playing delights everyone and she is also rather accomplished vocally. Her hobby is music first and foremost with her spare moments taken up with tennis, swimming and skating.

Value of Chemistry

Chemistry, a subject which is very often undervalued by the majority, is really a remarkably useful study. It acquaints the student with such things as he is confronted with each day and hour, and helps him to appreciate the wonders of nature about him.

Seldom do we stop to realize the exact importance of our smallest, working utensils, the many industries which make that little thing possible, and the numerous elements of its composition. With the study of chemistry, we learn to appreciate research and industry as well as receiving a knowledge of its fathomless depths, into which not even such men as Priestly, Cavenish and Pasteur have peered.

There is, for instance, the element—carbon. Its compounds are so numerous and different from all others, that it is put into a special field, known as "organic chemistry," which is now being studied in B. H. S. Chemistry classes conducted by Mr. LaMeter. In this branch, we study the origin of coal, its many uses, and its importance to mankind and to his work. We find that graphite, another carbon, is used in pencil-making, and is our needed accomplice each day. There is no other subject that helps us to see the value of such minor things, as does this science.

If the student wishes to go no farther than the home, after his school career, there are countless ways in which chemistry adds interest, and breaks the monotony of cooking, sewing, and cleaning. If one knows why bread rises, what soap is made of, and how materials are dyed, how much more interesting and beneficial his work would be!

Then, when rumors are circulating about the futility, and uselessness of chemistry, just remember a few of its merits, and how unappreciative people would be without it.

GIRLS' CAMPFIRE PROGRAM DELIGHTS AUDIENCE TUESDAY

CAREFULLY PLANNED PROGRAM PROVES SUCCESS AT HIGH

Last Tuesday evening the assembly was packed with students and adults as the Campfire program given by the Netoppew group opened with a trombone solo by Howard Giles. Bernice Steinfeldt gave a reading in negro dialect and responded to one encore. The Girls' Harmony Team sang the old Londoner air with the words "Danny Boy."

After the pantomime "The Light Went Out" by five Junior boys, came the play, "Our Aunt From California." Seven Campfire girls played very successfully the parts of Mrs. Merry Mintoburn, Mrs. Flim, the maid, Mrs. Needy, and her three daughters, Felicia, Rosalie and Sally. Marjorie Forsberg gave a laugh-provoking pianologue, "In the Usual Way," and Bernice Steinfeldt ended the program with another reading.

The Campfire Girls wish to thank Mr. Rosel for the stage; Carl Zapffe, for his artistic advertisements; the high school students and teachers for their patronage, and Miss Rickard for her assistance.

Octet Proves Popular at School Functions

The girls' octet has been very busy lately as they sing at different school functions. They seem to be much in demand, for Monday evening they sang at the French-club meeting, Tuesday evening they appeared at the Whittier school and might have appeared at the Camp Fire program the same evening if two of the members had not inadvertently fallen into one of the lakes on the way down.

The octet girls have attractive uniforms designed in the school colors and are pleasing to the eye as well as to the ear.

Supt. W. C. Cobb in a very sympathetic manner and in a way which left no doubts in the minds of his hearers, told facts concerning the geography and government of the United States to the night school students last Tuesday evening in the city hall. Mr. Cobb urged those present to defend this country always for they must realize by this time that it is a good place in which to live. It offers opportunities to anyone who is willing to work, said the speaker. Although there may still be a love for the old country found in their hearts, future citizens should learn to read and write, to familiarize themselves with American ideas and ideals, and, since they intend to live here, give their allegiance to the United States so that they may be a worthy addition to this country.

ALUMNI

Bartley Eckholm has accepted a position at the Fidelity store.

Miss Elizabeth Johnstone recently left for Evanston, Ill., where she will visit classmates at the Northwestern university for a week. She will also attend the annual Delta Gamma initiation and alumni banquet.

Alice Benson, Rudolph Molstad and Myrtle Gustafson, former graduates, were among the class of 29 who graduated at the end of the winter quarter at the St. Cloud Teacher's College. Professor Hagerty of the University of Minnesota was the main speaker of the day.

Miss Myrtle Haake, who is teaching at Blackduck, visited here over the week end.

William Johnstone attended the concert given by his mother, Mrs. W. A. M. Johnstone at the Congregational church Wednesday evening.

Mildred Herrington recently passed away at Fort Wayne, Indiana. She was well known among the students here as she is a graduate of '26, and took part in several debates and other functions of the Semper Paratus club. We extend our most sincere sympathy to the relatives of the deceased.

Ensign Ronald McKay, class of 1924, received first prize offered by the Coast Guard Headquarters for presenting the best drilled platoon in the inaugural parade of March 1.

WILSON AND PROHIBITION

PRESIDENT WILSON, it is now disclosed, favored a radical change in the methods of carrying out the provisions of the Volstead act, says the Philadelphia Record.

Senator Carter Glass in the New York Times has disclosed the views held by the former head of the nation as expressed in 1924. These views were to have been presented to the committee on resolutions at the Democratic convention of that year. But the bitterness which marked the early proceedings did not make this propitious, and the proposed plank was withheld. The plan can be summed up in two short sentences:

The task of the Federal government should be to prevent the importation of liquor into the United States and its transportation from state to state.

Each state should prevent the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquor within its own borders.

In other words, the Volstead act should follow the spirit of the Constitution. Public opinion would be the basis on which the law would rest. States' rights would be guarded. The Federal authorities would be left to attend to their own business strictly.

Prohibitionists may argue that such a change in the act would mean virtual nullification in certain states. But that does not follow. The Volstead act was practically nullified in Philadelphia a year ago. Saloons sold liquor openly. Speakeasies flourished. Corruption was rife. Excess defeated itself, and a public conscience was aroused. Today it is far, far more difficult to obtain liquor in this city than it was before the reaction set in.

President Wilson has left a most important political legacy; one that demands close study by the leaders of both parties.

SPRING'S RUSH MOVEMENT

WE have always heard the poets say or have read their effusions referring to the coming of gentle Spring. This year the young lady rushed upon the scene with all the verve, vim, vigor and vitality of flaming youth.

In three days her ardent glances melted all the snowbank near Brainerd and even thawed out most of the icy ridge on the south side of Laurel street.

Out in the woods the warm winds worked with the might of a western chinook, honeycombing snow drifts and reducing them to mere shadows of their former power. Gull lake ice is feeling the effect of the sun and wind and thawing near the shore lines.

Our secondary lines of transportation arteries, the country roads, unpaved, leading to farm homes, are suffering from a sort of dissolution, or in plain terms, "the bottom has been knocked out of them," by the warm weather. A foundation cannot be regained until excess moisture has evaporated.

As the sap starts to flow in the trees, spring poetry also struggles to the front. So far no one has brought any spring flowers to the Dispatch office. Among the wild insects turned in are a freight house mosquito, butterflies, etc.

THE STORM SEWER

THE business man down town and the average citizen with any interest in forthcoming improvements know the need of a storm sewer in the business section. After heavy, abnormal rainfall, the general sewer balks at carrying the load and basements fill.

It may take some time to find a suitable route, but in the meantime why not map out the district and let us know what the tax may come to and who will have to pay for it? The business section will not carry the whole expense, for it will overlap into the residential area.

However, the numerous activities in which you are engaged absorb so much of your time and attention that you forget contracts and all connected with them until the instructor electrifies you by announcing that contracts are due immediately. You assume the role of a thinker for the time being, and then you become an excellent traveler as you wear a path into the instructor's room to ask her questions which she has answered weeks ago. You work, you labor, you sweat over the said contracts and you finally prepare a hastily written theme, a cartoon of which any self-respecting second grader might be ashamed, and a poster which is the sort of thing a cat might play with.

You proudly present your daubs to the instructor, or hand in nothing at all. Alas! that instructor always did have it "in" for you.

YE EDITOR

In reference to the somewhat scorching article in this issue's mail bag column we believe that some sort of an apology is due our dissatisfied reader. We are still new at the job and at times find ourselves almost lost at the amount of work to be taken care of in so short a time—a factor which the average member of the student body does not realize—but we are learning many new things as each issue goes to press. We will soon have it down to a system and will be able to devote more of our time toward making the paper of interest to you.

In the matter of football and basketball articles about which our reader remarks, we would like to say that we did not elaborate to a very great extent for a very good reason. We have as our competitor, (in some aspects) a very live and up-to-date daily newspaper which publishes all the game news days before our paper comes to press and we endeavor to keep from printing the "old" news as much as possible.

Even though Mr. Clarkson's article was not of the sort an editor would be particularly pleased to receive we are grateful to him for expressing his views. Let's hear from the rest of you. Has no one a kind word for us?

SENIORS SELECT MOTTO AND FLOWER AT MEETING THURS.

GIRLS CHOOSE WHITE ENSEMBLE FOR GRADUATION SERVICES

At a meeting of the Senior girls last Tuesday afternoon, the yearly bug-bear—"what to wear for graduation"—was settled so quickly and peaceably that the shock has left almost everyone unrecovered as yet.

Although two or three other costumes were suggested, the white ensemble of any material—completed by white hose and black slippers—won almost unanimous approval. Long-sleeved dresses of any material and style will be worn for the Baccalaureate services.

Thursday afternoon again found the Seniors—both boys and girls—convening to settle some more problems.

The first accomplishment was the selection of class colors. Green and orchid carried the day.

"In Ourselves Our Future Lies" won the sanction of members as a motto for the class of '29.

A close vote between roses and sweet peas was cast—the final preference being for roses as the class flower.

Miss Tornstrom and President Malcolm Ellison both made urgent appeals to class members to pay second semester dues, because without them, activities—namely parties—must cease.

Normal Training Notes

Our class held a meeting under the leadership of Chairman Miss Wilson last Wednesday. Many important issues were discussed, some of which were the class dues, graduation costumes and the forming of an alumni association.

Laura Racine, Madge Rardin, Margaret Schley and Evelyn Dechaine are going to begin 7th grade work in the Lincoln building Monday.

Myrtle Wilson, Violet Hoston, Wilma Helgeson, Anna Wahlstrom are starting 8th grade work at the Harrison.

Maude Thompson is going to take over the music in the Garfield school. We all wish her luck.

Our printing presses surely have been doing overtime work this week in preparation for the primary which started Monday.

JUNIOR HI-Y SUP THURSDAY NIGHT

Potatoes, meatballs, gravy, meat loaf, buns, jelly and pears constituted the supper of the Junior Hi-Y which was held Thursday night at the Y. M. C. A.

After the supper, business formed the latter part of the meeting. Everyone was requested to pay his dues. The boys voted to go in with other organizations in the city in the Easter morning-tide service which will be held Easter morning at 7 o'clock in the basement of the Presbyterian church. A new member was introduced, who was none other than William Stout himself. Every member proved faithful and was there, 100 per cent strong.

Very much poetry is flying around here loose during the noon hour and after school. You see some of the girls are busy preparing the quotations and original verses to put after our names in the Brainonian Annual.

We wish to thank the staff for the courtesy shown us in the last issue. We, too, shall do our best that there may be no further misunderstandings.

THE FACULTY

Although Petesky, the name of her birthplace might suggest it Miss Evelyn Marshall is not of Russian descent but rather of a French and Dutch line. At the tender age of one and a half years the family removed her to Council Bluffs, Iowa, for her elementary schooling. Her high school education was gained at St. Paul where she attended the Central high school.

Her leisure time was utilized in practicing on the piano, working in the Dramatics club and school orchestra, and running a column in "The World," the school paper, with the intermittent minutes spent in dreaming of a vaudeville skit she longed to offer to the public. The only reason she didn't go on the stage, she says, was because she couldn't do anything.

After three years at the U and at Carleton, she received her B. A. and began teaching at Brainerd and has continued to do so for two years. We hope she does not now even think of going on the stage for she is sure to "make a hit" and if she does she might not teach here again. Her piano playing delights everyone and she is also rather accomplished vocally. Her hobby is music first and foremost with her spare moments taken up with tennis, swimming and skating.

Value of Chemistry

Chemistry, a subject which is very often undervalued by the majority, is really a remarkably useful study. It acquaints the student with such things as he is confronted with each day and hour, and helps him to appreciate the wonders of nature about him.

Seldom, do we stop to realize the exact importance of our smallest, working utensils, the many industries which make that little thing possible, and the numerous elements of its composition. With the study of chemistry, we learn to appreciate research and industry as well as receiving a knowledge of its fathomless depths, into which not even such men as Priestly, Cavenish and Pasteur have peered.

There is, for instance, the element—carbon. Its compounds are so numerous and different from all others, that it is put into a special field, known as "organic chemistry," which is now being studied in B. H. S. Chemistry classes conducted by Mr. LaMeter. In this branch, we study the origin of coal, its many uses, and its importance to mankind and to his work. We find that graphite, another carbon, is used in pencil-making, and is our needed accomplice each day. There is no other subject that helps us to see the value of such minor things, as does this science.

If the student wishes to go no farther than the home, after his school career, there are countless ways in which chemistry adds interest, and breaks the monotony of cooking, sewing, and cleaning. If one knows why bread rises, what soap is made of, and how materials are dyed, how much more interesting and beneficial his work would be!

Then, when rumors are circulating about the utility, and uselessness of chemistry, just remember a few of its merits, and how unappreciative people would be without it.

GIRLS' CAMPFIRE PROGRAM DELIGHTS AUDIENCE TUESDAY

CAREFULLY PLANNED PROGRAM PROVES SUCCESS AT HIGH

Last Tuesday evening the assembly was packed with students and adults as the Campfire program given by the Netoppe group opened with a trombone solo by Howard Giles. Bernice Steinfeldt gave a reading in negro dialect and responded to one encore. The Girls' Harmony Team sang the old Londoner air with the words "Danny Boy."

After the pantomime "The Light Went Out" by five Junior boys, came the play, "Our Aunt From California." Seven Campfire girls played very successfully the parts of Mrs. Merry Mintoburn, Mrs. Flim, the maid, Mrs. Needy, and her three daughters, Felicia, Rosalie and Sally.

Marjorie Forsberg gave a laugh-provoking pianologue, "In the Usual Way," and Bernice Steinfeldt ended the program with another reading.

The Campfire Girls wish to thank Mr. Rosel for the stage; Carl Zapffe, for his artistic advertisements; the high school students and teachers for their patronage, and Miss Rickard for her assistance.

Octet Proves Popular at School Functions

The girls' octet has been very busy lately as they sing at different school functions. They seem to be much in demand, for Monday evening they sang at the French-club meeting, Tuesday evening they appeared at the Whittier school and might have appeared at the Camp Fire program the same evening if two of the members had not inadvertently fallen into one of the lakes on the way down.

The octet girls have attractive uniforms designed in the school colors and are pleasing to the eye as well as to the ear.

Supt. W. C. Cobb in a very sympathetic manner and in a way which left no doubts in the minds of his hearers, told facts concerning the geography and government of the United States to the night school students last Tuesday evening in the city hall. Mr. Cobb urged those present to defend this country all ways for they must realize by this time that it is a good place in which to live. It offers opportunities to anyone who is willing to work, said the speaker. Although there may still be a love for the old country found in their hearts, future citizens should learn to read and write, to familiarize themselves with American ideas and ideals, and, since they intend to live here, give their allegiance to the United States so that they may be a worthy addition to this country.

ALUMNI

Bartley Eckholm has accepted a position at the Fidelity store.

Miss Elizabeth Johnstone recently left for Evanston, Ill., where she will visit classmates at the Northwestern university for a week. She will also attend the annual Delta Gamma initiation and alumni banquet.

Alice Benson, Rudolph Molstad and Myrtle Gustafson, former graduates, were among the class of 29 who graduated at the end of the winter quarter at the St. Cloud Teacher's College. Professor Haggerty of the University of Minnesota was the main speaker of the day.

Miss Myrtle Haake, who is teaching at Blackduck, visited here over the week end.

William Johnstone attended the concert given by his mother, Mrs. W. A. M. Johnstone at the Congregational church Wednesday evening.

Mildred Herrington recently passed away at Fort Wayne, Indiana. She was well known among the students here as she is a graduate of '26, and took part in several debates and other functions of the Semper Paratus club. We extend our most sincere sympathy to the relatives of the deceased.

Ensign Ronald McKay, class of 1924, received first prize offered by the Coast Guard Headquarters for presenting the best drilled platoon in the inaugural parade of March 1.

SEGRAVE PREPARES FOR SPEEDBOAT RACE TOMORROW

HOCKEY SERIES FOR STANLEY CUP BEGINS TONIGHT

BRITISH PILOT TO RACE "MISS ENGLAND" TOMORROW

NEW WORLD'S RECORD TRY IS MAJOR EVENT AT BISCAYNE REGATTA

Miami Beach, Fla., March 19. (UP)—The attempt of Major H. O. D. Segrave to bring back to England the speedboat record as well as the race car record, which he set at Daytona last week, brought the British pilot out on Biscayne Bay again today. He planned to give Miss England, the British built boat, another try-out before tomorrow's race.

Segrave will race Gar Wood, owner and pilot of Miss America VII, that set the present world's speed boat record of 92.836 miles an hour. The attempt to set a new world's record will be the leading event of the annual Biscayne Bay regatta.

Segrave tested Miss England yesterday, after putting with an oil leak over the week-end. No time was taken on the run. Wood watched the performance from the shore.

Postponed yesterday by poor weather, the annual race for the Sir Thomas Lipton trophy will be held today off Miami Beach. Sailing boats between 30 and 110 feet measurement were qualified, and 14 of that type had entered. The race is over a 12-mile course.

32 TEAMS ENTERED IN NATIONAL CATHOLIC H. S. CAGE TOURNAMENT

Chicago, March 19. (UP)—With thirty-two teams entered, the annual national Catholic high school basketball tournament begins here tomorrow night.

Tomorrow afternoon an exhibition game will be staged so that visiting teams may study the play and gain firsthand information regarding the rules of the tournament.

Two teams—Northeast of Philadelphia and Le La Salle of Joliet—were looked upon as favorites. De La Salle has won fourteen out of fifteen games and Northeast has downed some of the best teams in the east.

WISCONSIN HIGH CAGE FINALS APRIL 3 TO 6

Madison, Wis., March 19. (UP)—Although district tournaments were completed last week-end, finals in the Wisconsin high school basketball championship will not be held until April 3-6. Sixteen teams, survivors of preliminary tournaments, are still in the running for the title.

DEMPSEY SIGNS UP MANDELL AND MILLER

New York, March 19. (UP)—Jack Dempsey has signed the principals from his first lone trip into the fight promotion world.

The former champion last night announced the signing of Sammy Mandell, world's lightweight champion, and Ray Miller, Chicago, for a title bout next June. The bout probably will be held in Detroit.

Dempsey, who is considering an offer from Humbert J. Fugazy, New York promoter, is expected to make his decision in the matter public this week.

If he decides to work with Fugazy the Mandell-Miller scrap would go on under the joint promotion of both. It was understood.

SIX MAJOR LEAGUE TEAMS ARE IN RACE

FIRST GAMES PLAYED TONIGHT IN BOSTON, NEW YORK AND DETROIT

CAPACITY CROWDS EXPECTED AT CONTEST FOR STANLEY CUP

By WILLIAM J. DUNN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, March 19. —Six major league hockey games were ready today for the first games of the Stanley cup series, from which will emerge a world champion.

The first games will be played tonight in Boston, New York and Detroit, the first, second and third place teams in the American and international divisions of the National Hockey League clashing in those cities respectively.

At Boston Les Canadiens of Montreal, victors in the international group race, meet the Boston Bruins, who led the American group. The game will be the first of a series of possibly five games, the winner to be the first team winning three decisions.

At Madison Square Garden here the New York Rangers, of the American group, meet the New York Americans of the international for second place title. The winner will be the team scoring the most goals in the two-game series.

An identical series will get underway at Detroit at the same time with Toronto and Detroit opposed. The winner of this series will meet the winner of the series for the right to play either Boston or Les Canadiens for the world title.

Capacity crowds are anticipated in all three cities tonight. Boston rules a slight favorite over the field.

Has Hoo-doo Number

Helen Mentschel, of White-stone Landing, L. I., will have a handicap of unlucky numbers to overcome when she competes against 125 men for the first prize in the Albany-New York outboard motor marathon. She will drive boat No. 00-13, and her motor serial number starts with 13.

CAREY TO SUCCEED RICKARD AS HEAD OF THE 'GARDEN'

New York, March 19. (UP)—The full board of directors of Madison Square Garden, meeting here today, will name William F. Carey, New York business man, to succeed Tex Rickard as president of the corporation.

Announcement of the decision of the board was made at a dinner tendered Carey and newspaper men, by Richard Hoyt, chairman of the Garden board.

Carey, who is known internationally as a builder of railroads, was called from his Wall street office last January, when Tex Rickard's death left the Garden without a head. He went to Miami Beach to assist Jack Dempsey in the promotion of the Sharkey-Stribling bout.

His success there was so marked that his selection to succeed Rickard appeared certain.

TRAINING CAMP NOTES

San Francisco, March 19. (UP)—Believed to have received less than the $15,000 he asked, Lloyd Waner, star young outfielder of the Pittsburgh Pirates has signed his 1929 contract after having been listed as a hold-out for several weeks. His brother, Paul, still is unsigned. He is reported to be demanding a $20,000 salary.

Los Angeles, Calif., March 19. (UP)—A double by "Jigger" Statz which was responsible for two runs in the last of the ninth inning, gave the Los Angeles Pacific coast league team a 12 to 11 victory over the Chicago Cubs. Six home runs, one by Chicago and five by Los Angeles, were hit during the game.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 19. (UP)—The Yankees and the Braves resume their exhibition series today. The New York team worked only half a day yesterday and spent the afternoon watching the Boston team defeat the St. Louis Cardinals.

Winter Haven, Fla., March 19. (UP)—The St. Louis Browns were here today to meet the Philadelphia Nationals in their first exhibition game against a major league opponent. Sammy Gray and Al Crowder were expected to draw the mound assignments.

Orlando, Fla., March 19. (UP)—Manager Jack Hendricks of the Cincinnati Reds will make no further bids for the services of Roy Spencer, catcher, and Ernie Wingard, pitcher, who were declared free agents by Judge Landis. Both players are asking too much to sign, he indicated.

San Antonio, Tex., March 19. (UP)—The New York Giants, with seven consecutive exhibition victories, were back at their training camp today to remain until they start north, March 29. The Giants yesterday added the scalps of the Beaumont Texas leaguers to their collection with an 8 to 3 victory.

Avon Park, Fla., March 19. (UP)—The St. Louis Cardinals will not bid for any of the nine players declared free agents by Judge K. M. Landis. President Broadon of the team announced here.

Winter Haven, Fla., March 19. (UP)—Bob McGraw, pitcher, and William F. Baker, president of the Philadelphia Nationals, were still dickering today over the former's 1929 contract. A long conference yesterday resulted in a draw.

"Yoo-Hoo --- C'mon Over"

By QUIN HALL.

IT'S NOW some three weeks since the Balmy Battle of the Palms brought the 1928-1929 Miami season to its sporting climax. The light and grim details of that Sharkey-Stribling sparring match have receded into ring records and newspaper files, leaving essentially but one outstanding result—Miami's established place as one of the world's great sport centers during the Winter. What of its sporting future?

The late Tex Rickard's dream concerning a well packed arena at a Miami mauling bee was realized largely through the personal efforts of Bill Carey and Jack Dempsey. The battle was a big financial success. Close to 10,000 additional $5 ducks could have been retained if the promoters had had that many more squatting places. As it was, there was "a packed house." The intake proved conclusively that Miami Beach and the surrounding territory could, and would, support boxing.

The main event may have been disappointing to some of the customers who were accustomed to seeing more and better hitting, but to many fans it was a grand evening. Yes, there was some heavy fist-tossing in the prelims which helped spice up what might otherwise have been a monotonous three hours.

However, the big point seems to be that Greater Miami—a trick name, coined to satisfy the individual boosters of both the City of Miami and Miami Beach—is an ideal spot to stage any sort of warm weather sport during the Winter months. Having successfully put on racing meets—both horse and dog—in the face of some fairly well organized blue-nose opposition—the section has now demonstrated its ability to support big-time athletics.

Before his death Rickard had planned to make Miami Beach the scene of a big annual boxing event in case the first venture warranted it.

Following the Sharkey-Stribling fuss, there is considerable talk about plans for next year and it seems likely that another bout of goodly proportion will be put on down there next February. There was some talk of keeping the arena in Flamingo Park intact at least for another year, but the city dads claimed it was a fire hazard and it was dismantled and taken from Miami Beach to Miami, where it will be reassembled for future clouting parties. Bill Carey, acting for the Madison Square Garden Corporation of New York, has tentatively agreed to give Miami a major battle a year for five years.

In addition to its climate and Steve Hannigan, the hustling publicity man on the Beach, Southern Florida needs live sports, events to attract big patronage.

After meeting with opposition this Winter, the track element met the situation with oral betting and continued to run successfully. The crowds attracted to various sporting events were orderly and well-mannered, and this should have some weight with the law makers when the bill legalizing racing comes before them again.

Southern Florida's rail and water connections with the heavily settled sections of the East make it an ideal spot for sporting events. And Greater Miami will be better equipped to take care of the crowds next year.

SIX MAJOR LEAGUE TEAMS ARE IN RACE

FIRST GAMES PLAYED TONIGHT IN BOSTON, NEW YORK AND DETROIT

CAPACITY CROWDS EXPECTED AT CONTEST FOR STANLEY CUP

By WILLIAM J. DUNN (United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, March 19. —Six major league hockey games were ready today for the first games of the Stanley cup series, from which will emerge a world champion.

The first games will be played tonight in Boston, New York and Detroit, the first, second and third place teams in the American and international divisions of the National Hockey League clashing in those cities respectively.

At Boston Les Canadiens of Montreal, victors in the international group race, meet the Boston Bruins, who led the American group. The game will be the first of a series of possibly five games, the winner to be the first team winning three decisions.

At Madison Square Garden, here the New York Rangers, of the American group, meet the New York Americans of the international for second place title. The winner will be the team scoring the most goals in the two-game series.

An identical series will get underway at Detroit at the same time with Toronto and Detroit opposed. The winner of this series will meet the winner of the series for the right to play either Boston or Les Canadiens for the world title.

Capacity crowds are anticipated in all three cities tonight. Boston rules a slight favorite over the field.

Has Hoodoo Number

Helen Mentschel, of White-stone Landing, L. I., will have a handicap of unlucky numbers to overcome when she competes against 125 men for the first prize in the Albany-New York outboard motor marathon. She will drive boat No. 00-13, and her motor serial number starts with 13.

Overhand Throw Best

The reasons that soldiers were drilled to throw their hand grenades in a stiff overhand manner were that more distance could be gained in that way, and the muscles of the upper arm receive less strain than they would have otherwise.

CAREY TO SUCCEED RICKARD AS HEAD OF THE 'GARDEN'

New York, March 19. (UP)—The full board of directors of Madison Square Garden, meeting here today, will name William F. Carey, New York business man, to succeed Tex Rickard as president of the corporation.

Announcement of the decision of the board was made at a dinner tendered Carey and newspaper men, by Richard Hoyt, chairman of the Garden board.

Carey, who is known internationally as a builder of railroads, was called from his Wall street office last January, when Tex Rickard's death left the Garden without a head. He went to Miami Beach to assist Jack Dempsey in the promotion of the Sharkey-Stribling bout.

His success there was so marked that his selection to succeed Rickard appeared certain.

TRAINING CAMP NOTES

San Francisco, March 19. (UP)—Believed to have received less than the $15,000 he asked, Lloyd Waner, star young outfielder of the Pittsburgh Pirates has signed his 1929 contract after having been listed as a hold-out for several weeks. His brother, Paul, still is unsigned. He is reported to be demanding a $20,000 salary.

Los Angeles, Calif., March 19. (UP)—A double by "Jigger" Statz which was responsible for two runs in the last of the ninth inning, gave the Los Angeles Pacific coast league team a 12 to 11 victory over the Chicago Cubs. Six home runs, one by Chicago and five by Los Angeles, were hit during the game.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 19. (UP)—The Yankees and the Braves resume their exhibition series today. The New York team worked only half a day yesterday and spent the afternoon watching the Boston team defeat the St. Louis Cardinals.

Winter Haven, Fla., March 19. (UP)—The St. Louis Browns were here today to meet the Philadelphia Nationals in their first exhibition game against a major league opponent. Sammy Gray and Al Crowder were expected to draw the mound assignments.

Orlando, Fla., March 19. (UP)—Manager Jack Hendricks of the Cincinnati Reds will make no further bids for the services of Roy Spencer, catcher, and Ernie Wingard, pitcher, who were declared free agents by Judge Landis. Both players are asking too much to sign, he indicated.

San Antonio, Tex., March 19. (UP)—The New York Giants, with seven consecutive exhibition victories, were back at their training camp today to remain until they start north, March 29. The Giants yesterday added the scalps of the Beaumont Texas leaguers to their collection with an 8 to 3 victory.

Avon Park, Fla., March 19. (UP)—The St. Louis Cardinals will not bid for any of the nine players declared free agents by Judge K. M. Landis, President Breadon of the team announced here.

Winter Haven, Fla., March 19. (UP)—Bob McGraw, pitcher, and William F. Baker, president of the Philadelphia Nationals, were still dickering today over the former's 1929 contract. A long conference yesterday resulted in a draw.

"Yoo-Hoo --- C'mon Over"

By QUIN HALL.

IT'S NOW some three weeks since the Balmy Battle of the Palms brought the 1928-1929 Miami season to its sporting climax. The light and grim details of that Sharkey-Stribling sparring match have receded into ring records and newspaper files, leaving essentially but one outstanding result—Miami's established place as one of the world's great sport centers during the Winter. What of its sporting future?

The late Tex Rickard's dream concerning a well packed arena at a Miami mauling has been realized largely through the personal efforts of Bill Carey and Jack Dempsey. The battle was a big financial success. Close to 10,000 additional $5 duets could have been retained if the promoters had had that many more squatting places. As it was, there was "a packed house." The intake proved conclusively that Miami Beach and the surrounding territory could, and would, support boxing.

The main event may have been disappointing to some of the customers who were accustomed to seeing more and better hitting, but to many fans it was a grand evening. Yes, there was some heavy fist-tossing in the prelims which helped spice up what might otherwise have been a monotonous three hours.

However, the big point seems to be that Greater Miami—a trick name, coined to satisfy the individual boosters of both the City of Miami and Miami Beach—is an ideal spot to stage any sort of warm weather sport during the Winter months. Having successfully put on racing meets—both horse and dog—in the face of some fairly well organized blue-nose opposition—the section has now demonstrated its ability to support big-time athletics.

Before his death Rickard had planned to make Miami Beach the scene of a big annual boxing event in case the first venture warranted it.

Following the Sharkey-Stribling fuss, there is considerable talk about plans for next year and it seems likely that another bout of goodly proportion will be put on down there next February. There was some talk of keeping the arena in Flamingo Park intact at least for another year, but the city dads claimed it was a fire hazard and it was dismantled and taken from Miami Beach to Miami, where it will be reassembled for future clouting parties. Bill Carey, acting for the Madison Square Garden Corporation of New York, has tentatively agreed to give Miami a major battle a year for five years.

In addition to its climate and Steve Hannigan, the boxing publicity man on the Beach, Southern Florida needs live sporting events to attract big patronage.

After meeting with opposition this Winter, the track element met the situation with oral betting and continued to run successfully. The crowds attracted to various sporting events were orderly and well-mannered, and this should have some weight with the law makers when the bill legalizing racing comes before them again.

Southern Florida's rail and water connections with the heavily settled sections of the East make it an ideal spot for sporting events. And Greater Miami will be better equipped to take care of the crowds next year.

3 PICKED UP AT SEA, 7 DAYS ADRIFT IN BOAT

CAPT. JOHN J. SCHUTTERVAER
OF HOLLAND AND 2 COM-
PANIONS IN DISTRESS

MEN HAD ATTEMPTED TO CROSS
ATLANTIC IN LIFE BOAT
CAPTAIN BUILT

Aboard the S. S. Marques Comilla, at sea, March 19.—(UP).—(By radio to the United Press).—Capt. John Juter Schuttervaer of Holland and two companions were picked up at sea by the S. S. Marques Comilla this morning after they had spent seven days adrift in the life boat Schuttervaer without food or fresh water.

The men, who were attempting to cross the Atlantic ocean from Rotterdam to New York in the open boat, were in a rather serious condition. They were picked up at latitude 27.14 north, longitude 23.00 west.

Capt. Schuttervaer's companions in the lifeboat were two Dutch sailors, Cornelius Saan and Peter Mayer.

They left Rotterdam in the lifeboat "Schuttervaer" months ago in an effort to prove the seaworthiness of the craft which the captain had built. They touched several European ports before striking out across the ocean for New York. The lifeboat was well provisioned and they were confident that the trip would be successful unless they encountered continued severe storms.

The Marques de Comillas, which is a Spanish liner en route from Spain to Porto Rico, salvaged the lifeboat after rescuing the three men.

Plans Outlined to Kill Weeds

Farmers Advised to Plant
Smother Crops in Infested Places.

Plans for fighting noxious weeds which cause losses of many thousands of dollars annually to the farmers of Colorado are outlined by Walter Ball of the botany department of the Colorado Agricultural college.

The actual loss due to weeds is not known, but the presence of weed seeds and the large number of weeds actually harvested each year indicate a very high loss, Mr. Ball says.

Principal weed pests on the farms are the perennials such as the wild morning glory, bindweed, poverty weed, Canada thistle and Russian knapweed.

Plan Smother Crops.

In planning crops for this coming spring and summer farmers would benefit by planting smother crops in those places that are heavily infested with bindweed, poverty weed or any of the other more noxious perennial weeds, it is suggested.

"If the weed area is rather large, it should be isolated or farmed alone; if planted in row crops, the rows should be far enough apart to allow thorough and clean cultivation, for eradication of weeds in such an area is more important than the crop produced," declares Mr. Ball.

"If eradication is successful the production of good crops will be possible thereafter."

"If alfalfa is planted on a weedy area, it will suppress the weeds, weaken them and make it possible to kill the weeds after the alfalfa is plowed and cultivation is started again."

"Sweet clover is a very good smother crop and in some cases has eliminated the field bindweed or wild morning glory. By planting sweet clover two years in succession, that is planting the same area twice, a good stand is assured. Being a biennial, clover will give a very effective three years' smother crop."

Pasture Grass Helps.

Tame pasture grass planted in weed-infested areas will be helpful if pastured to sheep, for the weeds will be taken first. Competition for growth, and close grazing by sheep will make it extremely difficult for weeds to grow. If a tame pasture is planted, a good seedbed should be prepared, for grass seeds are very small, and should not be covered deeply. A good seedbed will insure a better stand of grass and therefore greater competition for the weeds.

Much work and trouble with weeds could be avoided by eradicating perennial weeds while in small patches. Everyone confronted by the weed problem should make an effort to learn to distinguish the noxious weeds in order to be prepared to get rid of them when they are first noticed.

by a rehabilitation program. Temporary shelter is offered in all refugee camps.

All operations are under direction of the national Red Cross and the Alabama national guard.

Northwest Florida presented one acute situation today. The Caryville and Milligan sections were still under several feet of water. Coast guard patrols were furnishing residents with food, clothing and shelter.

In Georgia, the village of Newton was still flooded today, its 300 residents safely on high ground outside the town.

In Alabama, Selma is still flooded. According to reports reaching here, however, the condition is well in hand.

Reports from the country sections of all states are entirely lacking. It is hoped air surveys will give officials some idea of what is needed.

Officials, however, hesitate to believe these hardy folks have been caught napping by the slowly rising waters.

(By United Press)

The process of rehabilitation began today in flood stricken areas in Alabama, Georgia and Florida, although the tasks of immediate relief were far from complete.

Permission was given 1,000 men to return to devastated Elba, Ala., and Geneva, Ala. Refugees prepared to follow receding flood waters back to that community.

Meanwhile inundation of new areas in Alabama and Georgia endangered lives. The Alabama river was at its highest crest since 1886 and towns below Montgomery were flooded. Along the lower Flint river in Georgia communities were evacuated for the second time in a month.

The known dead were 19 on the basis of verified reports. The estimated damage in Alabama alone was $20,000,000. Gov. Bibb Graves of Alabama officially estimated 100 dead in that state. Many of the missing are feared drowned.

Planes from Pensacola naval air station and Maxwell field, Montgomery, Ala., continued over the inundated regions, some surveying for refugees, others dropping food for stranded flood victims. A fleet of coast guard craft started up the swollen Choctawhatchie to aid small villages cut off from help.

Of the 25,000 made homeless in the tri-state area, thousands were returning to their homes today. Relief camps in Alabama, however, reported grave housing problems.

Sanitation of relief camps and of villages and towns now baring themselves from flood waters constituted the most serious problem for national guard and Red Cross units.

Danger of disease epidemics was believed allayed temporarily. Fair weather helped matters, and the sun shone again today over the water ruined country.

How many of the products mentioned are old friends of yours, familiar because you already own them or intend to get them soon! And the articles in your own home. Every one of them, probably, is advertised, either here or elsewhere. The chances are you first learned of them through advertisements.

Advertising is important to you because it keeps you informed of the changes in the world. It tells you of new products, of improved designs and workmanship and materials. It helps you to spend your money wisely and well. It points you to the better things of life.

Advertising is the herald of progress.

ROUTE FOR STORM SEWER PROPOSED

Council Instructs City Engineer to Estimate Cost of Sewer Running East

WOULD EMPTY INTO SOUTHEAST

Alderman V. F. Quamstrom Voices Opposition to Proposed Route

Following recommendation of the special relief sewer committee that a storm sewer be considered from the center line of Sixth street between Laurel and Maple streets running parallel to the N. P. railway track spur to the intersection of the spur and Laurel street thence to the general sewer on Laurel street, the city council at its meeting last evening authorized the city engineer to make an estimate of the cost of such a sewer and report at an early date to the council. The storm sewer as recommended by the committee is to be a 30 inch sewer.

Alderman V. F. Quamstrom announced that he was strongly opposed to the proposed route running the sewer into the general sewer leading into the southeast on the grounds that southeast in the event of extreme rains would be flooded. He said he would immediately protest on the route to indicate his attitude to such a move. He suggested that another route be considered preferably westward, the storm water to empty into the Mississippi river. Alderman Quamstrom stated that he was of the opinion that with the expansion of the city, such growth would tend to go southeast, an unfavorable situation would be created in the sewer conditions to those contemplating construction of homes in southeast. He felt also that such a route would be unfavorable should the Northern Pacific shops expand.

The request was made by County Highway Engineer that the Northeast Brainerd bus remain off Mill street and Ash avenue for a few days during the spring breakup to eliminate damage by heavy vehicles to the roads which are part of the state and highway system. Other vehicles of heavy weight have also been requested to not use the streets for a few days. The request was referred to the police committee with power to act.

W. D. McKay, secretary of the Water and Light department requested permission to purchase a pump for open well No. 2 at a cost of approximately $1,000 as the present pump is obsolete. The request was granted. Mr. McKay explained that the old motor will remain in use for the new pump.

A petition with eight signers was received asking for the construction of a lateral sewer on Fourth and Fifth avenues between H and I street. City Engineer R. T. Campbell was instructed to determine the cost of such construction and report to the council at its next meeting.

The request of Walter P. Tyrholm for permission to rent the city grader to grade the lot at the northeast corner of Seventh and Maple streets to be used as a used car sales lot was refused by resolution of the council on the grounds that the council has no authority to let out city machinery for private use.

Alderman Martin Anderson stated that the granting of such a request might mean trouble in the future.

Mr. Tyrholm further requested permission to construct a picket fence around the proposed sales lot. The council deferred action awaiting more definite information as to the height of the fence and construction.

John Hosten was allowed a claim of $25 on sewer work at his residence 1502 Pine street.

City Attorney D. H. Fullerton reported that he was drafting an ordinance proposed to license plumbers in the city and that the ordinance would be presented to the council at its next meeting. He stated that he would meet with plumbers in the city to discuss the proposed ordinance at an early date.

The city engineer was instructed to place cinders on Vine street between Fifth and Sixth streets and on South 5th street at Vine street.

The city engineer was further instructed to notify Ed. Hirt and Son, contractors of the new high school building to clean up unnecessary waste around the high school grounds.

Mrs. E. T. Fleener, city clerk was instructed to purchase election supplies for the city election, April 2.

FARM WOMEN ARE HONORED

Mrs. Anton F. Claus, County Home Chairman, Relates Her Experiences

ATTENDS CONFERENCE

Crow Wing County Home Management Project to be Conducted by Miss Miller

Mrs. Anton F. Claus, County Home chairman for Crow Wing county, has returned to her home in St. Mathias township after having attended the sixth county home chairman conference held March 7, 8, and 9 at the University farm. Thirty-three counties were represented.

Crow Wing county is fortunate in securing home management for their 1929 project under the direction of Miss Mary May Miller, extension home management specialist. The project will begin some time in September and 21 groups will be able to take this project in this county. In our other projects only 20 groups were allowed.

Mrs. Claus also attended the Master Farm Homemakers recognition dinner at the Raddison hotel, given by the publishers of the Farmers Wife. The master homemakers recognized were Mrs. Jane Glover Cunningham of Pipestone, Mrs. S. F. Dillman of Long Lake, Mrs. G. A. McDowell of Ivanhoe, Mrs. C. R. Poncin of St. Peter and Mrs. E. V. Ripley of Menahga. About 400 guests were present, including business men and women from every part of the state.

No woman gains this honor through her own seeking, said Mrs. Claus. She must first be nominated by five of her own neighbors who know her best. She must then submit to a searching investigation of her work in her home and in her community with the purpose of learning her attitude of mind and philosophy of life as well as her skill. They are tried by the very highest standards. That is why the Master Farm Home Makers recognition has become a national movement, conceded to be a powerful factor in shaping ideals for rural life.

So far twenty-one states have joined in this movement. They are Missouri, Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky, West Virginia, Kansas, North Carolina, South Carolina, Iowa, South Dakota, North Dakota, Michigan, Illinois, Tennessee, Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Maryland, Nebraska, Vermont and Minnesota. The nominations must be in the Farmers Wife, St. Paul office not later than May 15 and the person nominated must have her work sheet in not later than July 15. Let us hope that some woman of Crow Wing county may receive this honor for the coming year.

Brainerd Y. Boys May Join Minneapolis Group Soon

AT CAMP MENOGYN

Scores of Lakes Dot Picturesque Region Near Canadian Border

L. L. Peterson, secretary of the local "Y." received word today from the Minneapolis Y. M. C. A. that they have made arrangement whereby Brainerd can secure the use of their camp in the Superior National Forest. Application of the Brainerd "Y." has been pending for some time and this favorable reply will be good news to the local boys who have been planning on going.

The plan in the main is to pay $15 a week a piece, the number of campers to be at least 14. The camp furnishes food, equipment, canvas and guide. This rate being very much more reasonable than a private group could make the trip for.

Camp Menogyn is situated in the heart of the virgin forest, a few miles from the Canadian border. Scores of lakes dot the region and each day a canoe trip can be taken over some chain of the lakes, portaging between each lake. To reach the camp, you go to Grand Marais on Highway No. 1 and then up the Gundlitch trail for several miles until a trail turns off to West Bearskin lake, where it is necessary to go by water the rest of the way.

Brainerd boys have the opportunity to take over the camp the last week in June and enjoy the privilege of camping in the Arrowhead region. However Minneapolis Y. M. C. A. requires that the boys must be 16 years of age and over and must pass a physical examination. It is also desirable to have a business or professional man go with the group besides the "Y." leader.

The offer of the use of this camp presents one of the greatest opportunities Brainerd young men had to visit the one remaining virgin forests of the country.

JUST TRY TO MATCH THIS VALUE

It is easy to prove Oldsmobile's outstanding value to your own complete satisfaction, if you will examine it, drive it, and match it point for point with other cars in its field.

Just look at the 1929 Oldsmobile. Its perfection of line—its individuality—its smart new style—all form a magnificent tribute to Fisher designing genius. And you know that Body by Fisher stands for sturdy construction and painstaking craftsmanship as well as beauty.

Oldsmobile's interiors are expressive of fine car quality in their richness, restfulness, and luxury of appointment. What is more, you will find many comforts and conveniences unusual in a car of Oldsmobile's class... such as four Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers—gasoline gauge and temperature gauge on the dash—adjustable steering wheel—and the new adjustable driver's seat, introduced by Fisher.

When you drive the car you will discover exceptional performance... swift getaway, brilliant speed, and ample power for any task. You will marvel at its easy steering, easy parking and matchless roadability.

And typical of its quality, Oldsmobile's big 62 horsepower high-compression engine incorporates progressive engineering features rarely found in any but high-priced cars—such as pressure-lubricated piston pins.

The Roosevelt Chapter of the DeMolays conferred the DeMolay degree on ten candidates last evening at the Masonic hall, being: Harvey Hanson, Noah Dosh, Elwood Johnson, Arthur Arrow, Monroe Kelly, Emil Kukko, Mervin Anderson, James Lovestad, Alfred Lovestad and Russell Nelson.

Preceding the degree work, election of officers was held, and the following chosen for the ensuing six months:

Master Counselor—Eino Apuli.
Senior Counselor—Russell Lind (re-elected).

Junior Counselor—Howard Brotherson.

Under the leadership of the new Master Counselor, great things are expected for the Roosevelt chapter during the next few months.

Plans were also made for a benefit fit movie to be held April 1 and 2 at the Lyceum theatre. The movie, William Haines in "The Duke Steps Out" will be shown. The proceeds derived will go for the purchase of uniforms for the officers.

About 75 were present at the DeMolay meeting last evening. Refreshments were served by the candidates.

Point for Point Feature for Feature and now at its New Lower Prices - JUST TRY TO MATCH THIS VALUE

It is easy to prove Oldsmobile's outstanding value to your own complete satisfaction, if you will examine it, drive it, and match it point for point with other cars in its field.

Just look at the 1929 Oldsmobile. Its perfection of line—its individuality—its smart new style—all form a magnificent tribute to Fisher designing genius. And you know that Body by Fisher stands for sturdy construction and painstaking craftsmanship as well as beauty.

Oldsmobile's interiors are expressive of fine car quality in their richness, restfulness, and luxury of appointments. What is more, you will find many comforts and conveniences unusual in a car of Oldsmobile's class—such as four Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers—gasoline gauge and temperature gauge on the dash—adjustable steering wheel—and the new adjustable driver's seat, introduced by Fisher.

When you drive the car you will discover exceptional performance... swift getaway, brilliant speed, and ample power for any task. You will marvel at its easy steering, easy parking and matchless roadability.

And typical of its quality, Oldsmobile's big 62 horsepower high-compression engine incorporates progressive engineering features rarely found in any but high-priced cars—such as pressure-lubricated piston pins.

The way to know automobile values is to make comparisons. Come and see this finer Oldsmobile. Take a drive. Check its feature for feature with any other car. Just try to match its value!

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

WHEN Lilith Holden died and left the infant Lilith, Guinn, her husband, married Irene Robeline, who had been in love with Guinn. For twenty years Irene worked and slaved as the wife of the handsome Texas minister. The love she hoped to earn she found was given wholly to the beautiful grown-up Lilith. As Guinn spoiled this blonde image of the dead Lilith, Irene buried her grief in ministering to her own children, Tina, Ross, Lundy and Patricia, who were secondary in their father's affections. After college Lilith, given a year to study music in New York, fell in love with Bill Chester, scion of wealth and family tradition. At home Tina wearing Lilith's cast of clothes, which failed to hide her dark gypsy-like beauty, became engaged to a handsome lad, Dan, beloved by all the family. Lilith, seeking only her own selfish ends, breaks her engagement with Roger Devereaux, Texas boy, when Bill promises to end his betrothal to Sally Burton, society girl. Before sailing for Paris where his rich grandfather has demanded his presence, Bill madly in love with Lilith devotes his last week to her. Before sailing she seals her love by giving herself to him. Lilith spends her days re-reading Bill's cables confirming his love. But in Paris he agrees to marry Sally at his grandfather's command. Lilith is stunned with the message, "Sally and I were married this morning. Forgive me and forget." Lilith for the first time learned grief. She threw herself into her music study.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XVI.

TWO DAYS later she had a letter from him. It seems he had cabled Vivien to ask if she'd like Lilith to join her for a Winter in Paris. And Vivien had cabled that she would be delighted. Lilith must meet her in Paris in a fortnight.

His letter ended: "Let me know if this appeals to you. Every girl's got to see Paris some time, I reckon. Why don't you go now? I'll be happy to pay all expenses, for my girl to have such a congenial companion."

She was in a delirium of joy at the chance when she read his letter. The light came back to her eyes, the flush to her cheeks, and her heart beat like a trip hammer. To go to Paris in such a delightful way! To see Bill, and show him her contempt for him! She had thought she would have to wait, to save, to starve herself in order to get the money for a ticket to Paris, and now Heaven dropped it into her lap.

She would write Mr. Winthrop at once that she'd go. . . . No, she would go to see him in his office and tell him.

Her mind darted back and forth over her wardrobe, her anxious thoughts like lightning bolts. But she'd wait till she got to Paris before buying any new clothes. Then, such carefully selected clothes, like deadly weapons to smite Bill with a new sense of her beauty, to madden him with regrets.

She put on her most becoming frock and hat to go to call on Mr. Winthrop, and looked at herself in the mirror. There were dark circles under her eyes, but the eyes themselves were shining with anticipation; her cheeks were thinner, but flushed with nervous energy. And her gold head itself erect with a laughter pride than ever when she walked into Mr. Winthrop's office that morning.

"Why, you look better!" he cried. "Been taking a tonic?"

"Your letter was the tonic," she told him gaily.

"So you'll go, then? That's good."

"I'd crawl round the world on my hands and knees to thank you for the chance!"

"Girls certainly are crazy about Paris," he chuckled.

"Yes, I'm crazy to get to Paris."

"Well, let's see about sailing dates. Will your people let you go?"

"They always let me do anything I want to."

Excitement is a strong tonic, and Lilith started home thrilled and exhilarated. In ten days more she would be on her way to Paris. But all her old dreams of the city's enchantments were obscured, for Paris now held only one object, one interest for her. To see Bill, to destroy him with her scorn and contempt—that was the one vital necessity for her. After that, anything might happen, or nothing. Life for her would be over. . . .

She thought of the song she had sung the first night she met Bill, "The Lonesome Road."

"Broadway or Fifth Avenue to her new but a Lonesome Road?"

"True Love, True Love, what have I done."

That you should treat me so? You caused me to walk and talk with you."

Like I never done before!"

She climbed to the top of a Riverside bus and rocked along, lost in thoughts of what she would say to Bill. But presently the motion of the bus made her uncomfortable and she descended.

She would see a doctor and get a tonic to put her in good shape for the voyage. She must be looking her most fatal best when Bill saw her again.

She walked along until she saw a doctor's sign in a window, a good American name, not foreign as so many of the doctors were. She sank down in a cushioned chair in the reception room and idly watched the patients who were there ahead of her—an old man, a young workman with his arm in a slings, a woman with a baby in her arms, a half-grown girl, shabbily dressed. What a lot of suffering a doctor's office witnessed—loathsome diseases, sentence of death, banishment from home.

The young workman's eyes were a little like Bill's.

"Oh, my little love, what can I say?"

What, after all, was the conventional thing to say under the circumstances? What would the etiquette books suggest? "Pardon me for having ruined you. I'm sorry that I cannot marry you, as I have a previous engagement that I cannot break?"

Presently the nurse gestured that her turn had come, and she passed into the inner office. A tall man, with stooped shoulders and kind, tired gray eyes, greeted her, with a smile, as if she were a more refreshing sight than most of his patients.

"Well, young lady, what is the matter with you?"

"Nothing much. But I'm starting to Paris in a few days and thought I'd like to be sure I'm tiptop."

His gray eyes studied her face as he asked her various questions, and then they were thoughtful.

"Are you Mrs. Holden?" he asked.

"Oh, Miss Holden," she smilingly corrected him.

But something in his look made the smile fade. The fear she had denied set her to trembling.

"Are your parents living?"

"Yes, in Texas. I've been up here studying voice lessons. And now I'm going to Paris for the Winter."

His eyes were so kind that she could tell him all these little details of her life, and he seemed sympathetic, too.

He spoke gently. "If I were you, my child, I wouldn't go to Paris now. I'd go back to Texas."

Her eyes looked at him, questioning, terrified. "But why?"

"Because, my dear, you'll be needing your mother presently. You're going to have a child."

"No!" She sprang to her feet and threw out one hand in a passionate denial. "No!"

He nodded, his eyes very sorrowful.

She was furious at the pity in his face.

He rose and stood beside her, saying not a word.

Her senses swirled, as if she were a top spinning madly around. "A soufflé of moonbeams and music!" she whispered. The doctor caught her to keep her from falling.

That night she wrote to Mr. Winthrop, telling him that she could not go to Paris. Next day she moved to another room, where no one knew her. She did not write her family, of the change of address, but asked the postman to forward her mail. She must have time to think.

Sweet Potato Profit Could Be Increased

Diseases in Field, Storage and Transit Must Be Cut.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Much more profit could be realized from the growing of sweet potatoes than is now made if diseases in the field, storage, and transit were reduced. The inability of farmers to keep sweet potatoes in storage forces them to sell the bulk of their crop as soon as it is dug, a time when prices are at the low point. Specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture are of the opinion that more sweet potatoes would be available for winter use and disposed of at a good price if storage methods and principles were better understood.

In Farmers' Bulletin No. 1059-F, "Sweet-Potato Diseases," just issued by the department, sweet-potato growers will find much information of value concerning the prevention and control of storage and other diseases of their crop. Disinfection of the seed, use of immune varieties, and crop rotation are some of the practices advocated for the control of disease. Sweet potatoes infected with field diseases should never be placed in storage, for heavy losses will follow.

Numerous diseases are described in the bulletin, together with practical measures to adopt in reducing losses therefrom. A copy of the bulletin may be secured from the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Keeping Records on the Poultry Business Best

Many farmers feel that poultry keeping is just a side line to be watched over and cared for by the women on the farm and as a consequence they pay very little attention to keeping an account of the income and expenditures involved in the management of the poultry flock. Often this condition exists even though the flock may be getting the best of care and may be receiving a very well-balanced ration.

Such a feeling should not exist, however. Poultry flocks are one of the big sources of farm income. Furthermore, they furnish, under proper management, a very steady income from week to week throughout the 12 months of the year. It would be an easy matter to keep a record of this income, and in many instances this is done. Too often the poultry flock book-keeping ceases with the record of the income and does not take into account the cost of keeping the flock.

Breeding Ducks Must Be Given Variety of Feeds

For early hatching five ducks may be mated to one drake. After April 1st, six or eight ducks to one drake will not be too many. Duck eggs require 28 days to hatch, except the Muscovy breed, which requires 33 to 35 days.

In handling ducks pick them up by their necks rather than the legs. Their legs are easily broken.

Ducks lay early in the morning and should be kept in the house until they do—or till about 9:30 o'clock. If let out before laying, they often drop their eggs in ponds or streams.

Pekin and Runner ducks rarely set. Breeding ducks must be well fed. Besides whole grain, they should have a wet mash of wheat middlings ground corn and oats and wheat bran, with about one part of meat scrap to seven parts of the other feeds used in the mash. Oyster shell, or ground limestone, and sand, should be kept before them always.

Crossbred Sheep Used for Producing Mutton

Hampshire bucks crossed with grade Rambouillet ewes are being used to produce market lambs in Colorado, according to Charles I. Bray of the animal husbandry department of the Colorado College of Agriculture. A cross which Mr. Bray suggests is that of a long wool buck on a fine wool ewe. This cross has been used by some sheep growers of the other range states and gives a sheep with a good mutton body, fine quality of fleece and plenty of size.

In making this kind of a cross, Romneys, Lincolns and Cotswolds are used most frequently. By crossing a Romney Marsh buck with the ewes, a fine type of lamb was produced, according to the experiments of the Colorado College of Agriculture. The Romney is a little blockier than other long wool breeds and has shorter legs.

Brooder House Needed Now for Young Chicks

Probably no building is more needed right now than a new brooder house. One of the chief sources of loss of baby chicks comes from lack of proper brooding facilities, and a good brooder house will very nearly pay its cost in the first season.

A brooder house is not a complicated structure. A simple shed type is common, but it must be built with a warm floor, tight, warm walls and a tight roof. The use of good heavy building paper on the inside walls will stop all possibility of cracks, and will make it easier to maintain an even temperature. Bear in mind that in cold weather 60 per cent of the heat of a building is lost through the roof. Therefore, use an extra layer of building paper or one thickness of heavy wallboard under the roof.

Low-Headed Trees Most Desirable for Handling

After the orchard is set it is wise to cut the trees back? It is. With such fruits as peaches and plums the bark is very thin, and if the trees are allowed to head out several feet from the ground it is likely that the exposed body and lower branches will be sun scalded during July or August. When a tree is sun scalded the bark (usually on the west side) peels off and insects enter and damage the trees. To avoid sun scald cut the peach and plum trees back when they are planted to a height of 18 to 20 inches so that the head will start from this height, and the shade furnished by the foliage will protect the body of the tree. Low-headed trees are desirable not only because the possibility of sun scale is eliminated, but because the fruit may be harvested more easily and quickly, and spraying and pruning can be done more thoroughly.

Agricultural Hints

It's the early pruner who gets all his trees in shape.

Sudan grass is no good for early temporary pasture but it is splendid from July 15 on until frost.

About three pounds of bright alfalfa or clover hay a day or 400 pounds for the season is usually sufficient for a ewe.

There is a general rule that it takes 100 tons of alfalfa and about 50 tons of grain to put a 30-pound gain on 1,000 lambs.

Vaccination or immunization against cholera cannot be safely performed during the last two or three weeks before farrowing.

Pigs, as also other live stock, seem to be doing better this year on corn of good quality than on what we had to feed them the two previous years.

The best thing to do for swine flu, which is apparently increasing, is to maintain a high degree of resistance in the herd. Swine should be kept in dry and well-ventilated quarters.

When it comes to salt the lower animals are "humans." They want salt and must have it. Lower animals don't get salt sprinkled on their foods, as do humans, but they need it, nevertheless.

Childish Intelligence

The intelligence quotient, or "I. Q." of a child is determined by multiplying its mental age by 100 and dividing by the actual age. Thus the intelligence quotient of a normal child is 100. A child with an "I. Q." below 80 is rated as subnormal, while one with an "I. Q." above 120 is rated as gifted. About five children in 100 will be found to be 20 below normal and about five 20 above normal.

"True Love, True Love, what have I done?"

That you should treat me so? You caused me to walk and talk with you.

Like I never done before!"

She climbed to the top of a Riverside bus and rocked along, lost in thoughts of what she would say to Bill. But presently the motion of the bus made her uncomfortable and she descended.

She would see a doctor and get a tonic to put her in good shape for the voyage. She must be looking her most fatal best when Bill saw her again.

She walked along until she saw a doctor's sign in a window, a good American name, not foreign as so many of the doctors were. She sank down in a cushioned chair in the reception room and idly watched the patients who were there ahead of her—an old man, a young workman with his arm in a slings, a woman with a baby in her arms, a half-grown girl, shabbily dressed. What a lot of suffering a doctor's office witnessed—loathsome disease, sentence of death, banishment from home.

The young workman's eyes were a little like Bill's.

"Oh, my little love, what can I say?"

What, after all, was the conventional thing to say under the circumstances? What would the etiquette books suggest? "Pardon me for having ruined you. I'm sorry that I cannot marry you, as I have a previous engagement that I cannot break?"

Presently the nurse gestured that her turn had come, and she passed into the inner office. A tall man, with stooped shoulders and kind, tired gray eyes, greeted her, with a smile, as if she were a more refreshing sight than most of his patients.

"Well, young lady, what is the matter with you?"

"Nothing much. But I'm starting to Paris in a few days and thought I'd like to be sure I'm tiptop."

His gray eyes studied her face as he asked her various questions. And then they were thoughtful.

"Are you Mrs. Holden?" he asked.

"Oh, Miss Holden," she smilingly corrected him.

But something in his look made the smile fade. The fear she had denied set her to trembling.

"Are your parents living?"

"Yes, in Texas. I've been up here studying voice lessons. And now I'm going to Paris for the winter."

His eyes were so kind that she could tell him all these little details of her life, and he seemed sympathetic, too.

He spoke gently. "If I were you, my child, I wouldn't go to Paris now. I'd go back to Texas."

Her eyes looked at him, questioning, terrified. "But why?"

"Because, my dear, you'll be needing your mother presently. You're going to have a child."

"No!" She sprang to her feet and threw out one hand in a passionate denial. "No!"

He nodded, his eyes very sorrowful.

She was furious at the pity in his face.

He rose and stood beside her, saying not a word.

Her senses swirled, as if she were a top spinning madly around. "A soufflé of moonbeams and music!" she whispered. The doctor caught her to keep her from falling.

That night she wrote to Mr. Winthrop, telling him that she could not go to Paris. Next day she moved to another room, where no one knew her. She did not write her family, of the change of address, but asked the post office to forward her mail. She must have time to think.

Sweet Potato Profit Could Be Increased

Diseases in Field, Storage and Transit Must Be Cut.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Much more profit could be realized from the growing of sweet potatoes than is now made if diseases in the field, storage, and transit were reduced. The inability of farmers to keep sweet potatoes in storage forces them to sell the bulk of their crop as soon as it is dug, a time when prices are at the low point. Specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture are of the opinion that more sweet potatoes would be available for winter use and disposed of at a good price if storage methods and principles were better understood.

In Farmers' Bulletin No. 1059-F, "Sweet-Potato Diseases," just issued by the department, sweet-potato growers will find much information of value concerning the prevention and control of storage and other diseases of their crop. Disinfection of the seed, use of immune varieties, and crop rotation are some of the practices advocated for the control of disease. Sweet potatoes infected with field diseases should never be placed in storage, for heavy losses will follow.

Numerous diseases are described in the bulletin, together with practical measures to adopt in reducing losses therefrom. A copy of the bulletin may be secured from the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Low-Headed Trees Most Desirable for Handling

After the orchard is set it is wise to cut the trees back? It is. With such fruits as peaches and plums the bark is very thin, and if the trees are allowed to head out several feet from the ground it is likely that the exposed body and lower branches will be sun scalded during July or August. When a tree is sun scalded the bark (usually on the west side) peels off and insects enter and damage the trees. To avoid sun scald cut the peach and plum trees back when they are planted to a height of 18 to 20 inches so that the head will start from this height, and the shade furnished by the foliage will protect the body of the tree. Low-headed trees are desirable not only because the possibility of sun scald is eliminated, but because the fruit may be harvested more easily and quickly, and spraying and pruning can be done more thoroughly.

Agricultural Hints

It's the early pruner who gets all his trees in shape.

Sudan grass is no good for early temporary pasture but it is splendid from July 15 on until frost.

About three pounds of bright alfalfa or clover hay a day or 400 pounds for the season is usually sufficient for a ewe.

There is a general rule that it takes 100 tons of alfalfa and about 50 tons of grain to put a 30-pound gain on 1,000 lambs.

Vaccination or immunization against cholera cannot be safely performed during the last two or three weeks before farrowing.

Pigs, as also other live stock, seem to be doing better this year on corn of good quality than on what we had to feed them the two previous years.

The best thing to do for swine flu, which is apparently increasing, is to maintain a high degree of resistance in the herd. Swine should be kept in dry and well-ventilated quarters.

When it comes to salt the lower animals are "humans." They want salt and must have it. Lower animals don't get salt sprinkled on their foods, as do humans, but they need it, nevertheless.

Childish Intelligence

The intelligence quotient, or "I. Q." of a child is determined by multiplying his mental age by 100 and dividing by the actual age. Thus the intelligence quotient of a normal child is 100. A child with an "I. Q." below 80 is rated as subnormal, while one with an "I. Q." above 120 is rated as gifted. About five children in 100 will be found to be 20 below normal and about five 20 above normal.

Old Fashion Magazine

From 1830 to 1839 Godey's was known as the Lady's Book; 1840-1843, Godey's Lady's Book; 1844-1848, Godey's Magazine and Lady's Book; 1848-1892, Godey's Lady's Book, and from 1892 Godey's Magazine. It was purchased by F. A. Munsey and merged in the Puritan, October, 1893.

First to Protect Oysters

Rhode Island was the first state to set aside water territory for the propagation of oysters. As early as June, 1799, this state set aside a small tract for the cultivation and propagation of oysters by private parties.

Use Underground River

An underground river on the island of Kauai, Hawaii, has proved a boon to the sugar industry of that section. It has been "tapped" for the purpose of irrigating the occasionally dry sugar lands.

Coal Tar Derivative

Bakelite is produced from coal tar by a process invented by Dr. L. H. Baekeland. It consists of the condensation products of phenols and formaldehyde converted by heat and pressure into solid form.

Keep youth longer!

cleanse the system of poisons

Two of the great enemies to youth and vitality are delayed elimination and intestinal poisons. To keep yourself free from both these common difficulties will help you to stay young.

With the use of Nujol you can do it too. For Nujol absorbs body poisons and carries them off, preventing their absorption by the body. Nujol also softens the waste matter and brings about normal evacuation. It is harmless; contains no drugs or medicine. It won't cause gas or griping pains, or affect the stomach or kidneys. Every corner druggist has Nujol. Make sure you get the genuine. Look for the Nujol bottle with the label on the back that you can read right through the bottle. Don't delay, get Nujol today.
